

Job Search and Posting Evidence

NAME _____ DATE _____ PERIOD _____

Seven-Step Search Cycle

1. Set a target. 2. Prepare truthful materials. 3. Search through credible sources. 4. Screen the posting and employer. 5. Track status/deadline. 6. Tailor and apply through an authorized route. 7. Follow up safely.

Why searching, screening, and applying are separate steps:

One step students often skip and the risk:

Fixed Practice Posting - Fictional

Pecan Creek Animal Care - Student Office Assistant

Fictional classroom employer; not a live vacancy. Helps prepare appointment materials, organizes approved files, greets visitors with an adult supervisor, and communicates routine nonclinical information. Desired evidence: accurate data entry, respectful communication, organization, dependable attendance, and ability to ask for clarification. Student schedule; training provided. No animal treatment, medication advice, payment handling, or unsupervised access to private records.

Job title, employer, source/status, and date reviewed:

Three responsibilities:

Three qualifications/skills:

Match Evidence

One true school/project/activity/service responsibility that could support the posting:

One transferable skill + action/task/evidence example:

One qualification the fictional applicant still needs to develop:

One clarification question:

Screen Before Acting

What would you verify through the official employer site or a known adult?

Red flags: pressure to act immediately, request for payment, gift cards, banking/ID data before a verified process, personal-email domain, off-platform messaging, vague duties, guaranteed pay, or interview-only-by-text.

Two red flags and the safe response:

Why a job-board result is not independent employer verification:

Fictional Opportunity Tracker

Target/keywords: _____

Source and verification route:

Posting reviewed date / deadline or N/A: _____

Status: saved / screened / tailored / teacher-approved next step / closed

Next authorized action:

No real application, registration, contact, resume upload, or personal data entry occurs in this lesson.

Rung 5 and Absence Route

The fixed case demonstrates the course standard. If your teacher later supplies a current verified posting for FYF Rung 5, record the title, employer, official source, review date, responsibilities, qualifications, and preparation without contacting the employer or sharing personal information.

Current posting evidence, if teacher-approved:

One limitation or change risk:
